

GE MONEY BECOMES GOLD SPONSOR

GE Money has become the first Gold Sponsor of the PA RV and Camping Education Foundation (PRVCEF) with their generous donation of $2,500.

“GE Money is committed to supporting the industries where we operate, and we recognize the importance of training and education of personnel at the dealerships with which we work,” said Ed Arienti, President of RV Lending for GE Money - Sales Finance.

Rebecca Lenington, Executive Vice President of the PA RV and Camping Association said, “GE’s contribution proves that the industry supports our programs and recognizes the value in providing quality education for future RV technicians. We are very excited about GE’s involvement in the program and thank them for becoming a leader in this worthwhile endeavor.”

PRVCEF is dedicated to creating education opportunities for individuals who would like to make a career in the RV and private campground industry. To date, over 80 students nationally have been helped through the programs sponsored by PRVCEF. Students can become a trained RV Technician through the RV Technician Apprenticeship Program, RV Technician Distance Learning Program or the RV Technician Training at the Northampton Community College Campus. PRVCEF makes scholarships available to students of the technician training programs as well as the Oglebay School of RV Park and Campground Management.

To learn more about these programs and how you can become a sponsor, contact Heather at 888-303-2887.